Our software is just like millions of other software on the market, and you will see this message when you download or run a compressed or extractable file on your computer.

When you click on the download link, you see a zip or exe file.

Note: Your downloaded file name is not the same as what you see in this help file; you will see something else, XXXXXXX.exe. We have one help file for many downloads.

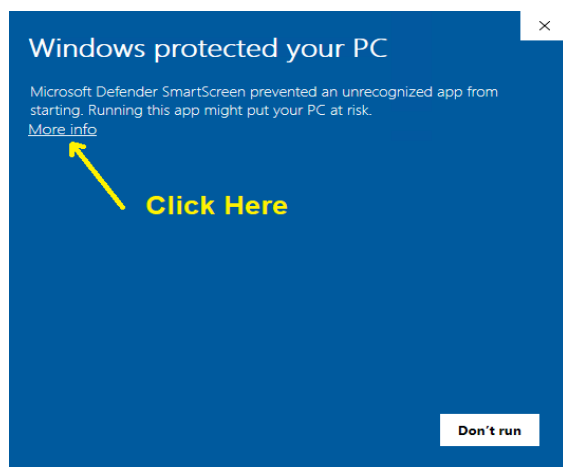

Now open by double click on it.

Double click on downloaded _file again

Now, when you see this screen, click on More Info.

Finally click Run anyway

Depend on your computer and users setting, you may see message like this,

Click Yes

Continue setup process